Men's Retreat - 2016
April 1 - 3
Camp Wooten, Blue Mountains

Many of us feel ill equipped to engage others, (maybe especially atheists and agnostics, but people of other religions as well) in evangelistic conversations for fear people may ask us questions, which we haven't a clue as to how to answer. Not wanting to feel stupid, always thinking that others can do it better, we forget that we are the ones who have access to many that our pastors and missionaries don't. We are in their lives. We see their sufferings and harassment; they are sheep without a Shepherd. We may have even struggled with some doubts of our own that hold us back. Hopefully, all of us who are fathers want our children to be prepared to face difficult questions that will come and challenge their belief in God, challenges that lie outside the safety zone of our homes. (Luke 17:1)

Well, Christ our Lord has called us all into the divine opportunity of sharing the powerful witnesses of the existence of God: the witness of the heavens, the witness of the universe shouting it had its beginning from God, the witness from the emergence of biological life, the witness from the sense of morality, of knowing the existence of good and evil, the witness in the nature of logic, the witness even in the multiplicity of religions, and then the powerful truth that God has indeed spoken through His prophets in Holy Scripture! That brings us to the Gospel!

This is your opportunity to get into the action of breaking up ground so the seed of the Gospel can fall into prepared soil. This is your opportunity to see how overwhelmingly solid is the evidence for the Living God in this increasingly secular world. It is the Father's will that we should be fruitful. (John 15)
